

To: Nelson, Eric[nelson.ericp@epa.gov]
From: Snook, Hilary
Sent: Wed 3/19/2014 4:23:59 PM
Subject: RE: clam study revisited?

Hi Eric,

Doing well, but swamped already. I would have a hard time committing at this point with all that is currently lined up for this summer and into the fall. I can keep it on the books as a tentative if you want in case something falls through, but I know that makes it hard to plan on your end.

Thanks for keeping me updated with the progress and the Merrimack Station Group; hope all is going well on your end!

Best,

Hilary

From: Nelson, Eric
Sent: Monday, March 17, 2014 3:59 PM
To: Snook, Hilary
Subject: clam study revisited?

Hi Hilary:

Hope you're well. I spoke with Amy the other day, and she expressed interest in doing some follow-up work this year, similar to what we did last fall.

She suggested perhaps sampling towards the end of July and again in October, obviously barring any government shutdowns.

I wouldn't mind collecting another year's worth of data, and collecting some more underwater footage, but I'm afraid this may be too late to be requesting chunks of your time.

Let me know your thoughts, and availability.

In related news, Amy hopes to send to us a draft report with the study results by the end of this month.

Also, I have a powerpoint presentation of the u/w video and photos we took last November.

I don't think you currently have access to the Merrimack Station Q Group. If not, I'll put your name on it so you can check it out.

It's interesting.

Regards,

Eric

Eric P. Nelson

Ocean and Coastal Protection Unit

Unit Dive Officer

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

New England Region

5 Post Office Square, Suite 100

Mail Code OEP06-1

Boston, MA 02109-3912

Phone: 617-918-1676

email: http://www.nelson.ericp@epa.gov